

Master Program for Indian and ASEAN Studies

Program	Course	Credits	Hours	Description	References
M.A.	Malay & Indonesian	2	3	The aim of this course is to improve language skills through reading news articles and editorials written in Indonesian or Malaysian. Students will get help express their thoughts and ideas in writing and speaking through discussions on any relevant topics.
M.A.	Vietnamese	2	3	Grammar and vocabulary learning will be emphasized to enhance students' advanced Vietnamese writing and speaking abilities.
M.A.	Thai	2	3	Students can acquire advanced language ability in Thai including knowledge related to their field of interest. They are expected to express their thoughts and ideas logically in Thai writing and speaking.
M.A.	Hindi	2	3	Hindi lecture will be delivered three hours a week. Grammar and vocabulary learning will be emphasized to enhance students' advanced writing and speaking abilities.
M.A.	Malay & Indonesian II	2	3	This course helps students read and summarize Indonesian and Malaysian books related to their majors. Students are expected to know academic terms correctly in Indonesian or Malaysian that will help them collect and analyze local materials.
M.A.	Vietnamese II	2	3	Through intensive discussion and writing in Vietnamese, students can express their thoughts and ideas in Vietnamese logically.
M.A.	Thai II	2	3	This course will increase students' ability in reading and summarizing Thai books related to their majors. Students are expected to know academic terms correctly in Thai that will help them collect and analyze local materials.
M.A.	Hindi II	2	3	Students are expected to know academic terms correctly in Hindi that will help them collect and analyze local materials. They can get help express their thoughts and ideas in Hindi writing and speaking.
M.A.	Political Change in Southeast Asia	3	3	The objective of this course is to review recent political change in Southeast Asia region including transition from authoritarian to democratic. To achieve these objectives the course begins by examining theoretical discussion of political changes in general.
M.A.	Political Economy of Southeast Asia	3	3	With the subject of economy which has greatly influenced political, social change in Southeast Asia, this course will be focusing on transition and outlook of political economy of Southeast Asia.
M.A.	Trade in Southeast Asia	3	3	This course will analyze current economy and trade patterns of the Southeast Asian countries along with Korean trade with these countries. It will also identify the current economic and trade issues of these countries and discuss policies to deal with these issues.

M.A.	FDI in Southeast Asia	3	3	This course aims to provide students with in-depth knowledge of FDI. As Southeast Asia is one of the world's largest FDI recipients, students need to have strong background knowledge of FDI to understand ASEAN economy.
M.A.	Banking and Finance in Southeast Asia	3	3	This course is designed to introduce students to Southeast Asian public finance and finance industry.
M.A.	A Study on the Southeast Asian History	3	3	The various nations, languages and cultures form Southeast Asia. Concentrating on the regional characteristics, this course will focus on historical features and passages of Southeast Asia by countries
M.A.	Social Change in Southeast Asia	3	3	Social structure of Southeast Asia will be analyzed with the comparative method. Discussions on social phenomenon in Southeast Asia with the methodology of area studies will be held.
M.A.	Seminar in Southeast Asian Region	3	3	In this course, students will study the know-how of academic writing. This course is aimed at students to help writing thesis with the relevant theories on the current issues in Southeast Asia.
M.A.	Relations Between Labor and Capital in South Asia	3	3	This course will cover some basic concepts of South Asian economies, especially the relations between labor and capital in South Asia periodically.
M.A.	Relations Between Labor and Capital in South Asia	3	3	This course will cover some basic concepts of South Asian economies, especially the relations between labor and capital in South Asia periodically.
M.A.	Seminar in South Asian Culture	3	3	This seminar is designed to provide students with specialized perspective by dealing with debates and consents related to writing and understanding of dissertation.
M.A.	Industrial Policies in South Asia	3	3	The characteristics of Indian industrialization process after open economy of India will be analyzed as well as historical and cultural environment.
M.A.	Trade in South Asia	3	3	This course will analyze current economy and trade patterns of South Asian countries along with Korean trade with these countries after the economic opening of India. It will also identify the current economic and trade issues of these countries and discuss policies to deal with these issue
M.A.	Seminar in South Asian Politics and Economies	3	3	In this course, students will study the important aspect of academic writing. This course is aimed at assisting students in understanding the theories as well as practices of major affairs in South Asia today.
M.A./Ph.D.	Political Culture of Southeast Asia	3	3	This course will review the way in which traditional attitudes, beliefs, and sentiments have affected political behavior in Southeast Asia. The aim of this course is to provide students with an understanding of traditional beliefs and symbols, traditional concepts of power and patron-client relations, the concept of culture and their impact on political behaviors in Southeast Asia.

M.A./Ph.D.	Traditional Culture and Religions in Southeast Asia	3	3	The aim of this course is analyzing Southeast Asian area and promoting mutual understanding with comparative studies on traditional cultures and religions.
M.A./Ph.D.	NGOs and IOs in Southeast Asia	3	3	This subject focuses on analyzing NGOs and IOs' effect on civil society in Southeast Asia.
M.A./Ph.D.	Gender and Migrant Labor of Southeast Asia	3	3	This course pursues the patterns of Southeast Asian migrant labor and related human rights topics. Students are encouraged to study the gender role patterns of Southeast migrant labor with labor market theory.
M.A./Ph.D.	International Relations of Southeast Asia	3	3	This course will introduce the importance of globalization to students. Students will understand international relations and cooperation in Southeast Asia. In particular, analyzing ASEAN will be helpful for students to study this course.;
M.A./Ph.D.	ASEAN Economy and FTA	3	3	This course will primarily cover FTAs of ASEAN. Southeast Asian countries are trying to maximize their economic benefits through ASEAN economic cooperation. The most noticeable ones among them are AFTA and ACFTA.
M.A./Ph.D.	Mass-culture in Southeast Asia	3	3	This course will help students understand socio-culture in Southeast Asia. For this purpose, it would be needed to understand changes of mass medias in the region. It would be also analyzed the influence of mass medias on societies and identities in the region.
M.A./Ph.D.	International Economic Policies in South Asia	3	3	Students are expected to search the history and environment of South Asian countries' foreign economic policy. This subject enables students to understand policies on import and export, tax and foreign investment after independence of India.
M.A./Ph.D.	Culture and Social Change in Modern South Asia	3	3	This course is designed to help students learn the basic knowledge and skills in conducting research projects on recent issues related with South Asian socio-cultural changes.
M.A./Ph.D.	Mass-culture in South Asia	3	3	This course is to introduce students to the Southern Asian mass-culture with South Asian movies, songs, performances, newspapers and TV programs.
M.A./Ph.D.	Political Culture of South Asia	3	3	In this course, students are expected to obtain the basics of political culture of South Asia. Practically, a variety of topics for the understanding of the key principles of South Asia political culture features will be addressed in the class.
M.A./Ph.D.	Research Method in Southeast Asian Studies	3	3	This course provides master's and doctoral students with analysis tools that are required to study Southeast Asian studies. It consists with research methods of area studies, information on latest academic trend, and how to write academic articles.	Mandatory for those entered until 2006

